

IMPOSSIBLE FAITH

The Story of Corrie ten Boom

A one-person drama about living the love of Christ in the midst of the terror and suffering of World War II.

In May of 1940 the Netherlands was invaded and occupied by Hitler's forces during WWII. Jews were arrested and deported to extermination camps throughout Germany. Active resistance against the occupation was carried out by a small minority of the population which grew larger as the war continued. Ordinary but courageous civilians joined what was known as the Dutch Underground and were instrumental in helping Jews escape to freedom; many paying with their lives.

The country was finally liberated on May 5, 1945 after the German forces surrendered to the Canadian forces. By this time, however, over six million Jews had been murdered throughout Europe, along with millions of others who were seen as a political threat or racially inferior.

Follow Deanna Storrie of Acting Up! Drama as she portrays the story of Corrie ten Boom (1892-1983), who, along with her sister, Betsie, finds herself in one of Hitler's extermination camps. They were part of the underground and now may pay with their lives. Can Corrie's faith in Christ, the living God, help her find true peace, hope and love in the face of unimaginable hardships?
